

House of Commons
Chambre des communes

March 20, 2018

Dear Mr. Lamperd:

In light of your ongoing dedication to the fabrication of non-lethal munitions, I would like to commend your company, Lamperd Less Lethal, for its important contributions and ongoing efforts to provide more effective and safer security solutions. I appreciate the work that the Lamperd Less Lethal team has been doing for many years to develop, test, manufacture, distribute and provide training courses on a wide range of products for police, military, corrections and other vital public services.

At this time, I call special attention to the innovation of your latest efforts to introduce a potential solution to the serious issue of “active shooters” as tragically seen in Parkland, Florida and other parts of the United States. Your new Pepper Blast product offers a way to equip teachers and other civilian professionals with a device that can rapidly incapacitate an active shooter. I recognize the potential of this new product to help solve a disturbingly serious problem so that lives can be saved.

I also recognize that Lamperd's new Pepper Blast product has the potential for other important applications, such as its use as a humane measure for aggressive dogs or other animals encountered by police, animal control and other field personnel on a regular basis. For this role, the value of Pepper Blast to drive-off or immediately take the aggression out of a potentially dangerous animal will be a very welcome tool to protect our officers and at the same time offer a much needed option for a humane alternative to the use of deadly force so dogs and other animals are not killed needlessly.

Once again, I thank you for all your important work. Please keep me apprised if I may be of any further assistance. It is with optimism that I hope Lamperd Less Lethal can continue to help save innocent lives through your innovative line of non-lethal products.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Gladu
Member of Parliament: Sarnia-Lambton

